

Evidence

Giulia collaborated confidently with her peers to create a well-organised poster. She listened to others' ideas, shared her own suggestions, and helped the group make decisions together. Throughout the task, she supported her teammates in reviewing their work, identifying what could be improved, and making thoughtful changes. Her positive attitude and willingness to evaluate and refine the poster contributed to a stronger final result and effective teamwork.

