Painting the Mural

Once upon a time, there was a school called Forest Green, and the grade seven's project had a big art project, It was to paint a big mural on the front of the school. They all had a lot of things to use, like cans of paint and lots of brushes. Each child paints a different part of the picture and needed to make it as ~~create~~ creative as they can.

Each child painted something like a ~~cake~~ hearts of a candle and lots of ~~the~~ stars and stars. It was a surprise for the art teacher, it was her birthday and before they started painting they all agreed to make a serprise mural for the art teacher so when she came to see the mural, she was so happy and serprised. the
